* INTRODUCTION

An anganwadi is a type of rural child care centre in India. They were started by the Indian government in 1975 as part of the integrated child development services program to combat child hunger and malnutrition. The anganwadis provide meals each day to the slum children under 6 years old but also provide lessons in health and hygiene and literacy in a nurturing preschool environment.

On October 2024 we the student of Bsc. MScs visited anganwadi as an academic requirement of child health

Pre-School Education

Non-formal pre school education is an important component of ICDS programme which is essential for allround development of the children. pre-school education is provided to children in the age group of 3 to 6 years. As the name suggests formal education is not important to the children. but children are encouraged to grow at their own pace.

The anganwadi should thus become the first step in the process of education before the child goes to primary school.

Conclusion

The anganwadi services scheme is one of the flagship programmes of Government of India and represents one of the world's largest unique programmes for early childhood care and development.

The thanks to the delivered to anganwadi sevika and gratitude was conveyed by offering some snacks to the anganwadi children.
